(54) TOILET WATER FOR HYGIENIC PURPOSE

(57)Abstract:

PURPOSE: A toilet water for hygienic purpose that contains water as the major component, ethanol for antiseptic and anti-infective purposes, skin-nourishing milk and perfumes, thus being used for hygienic and anti-infective purpose at the lower body.

CONSTITUTION: The objective toilet water for hygienic purpose is composed of more than 51%, preferably more than 85% of water, 12% ethanol for antiseptic purpose, 2.5% of skin-nourishing emulsion and perfumes. Since water is the major component of the toilet water, it shows good detergent effect and the combination with ethanol develops the effects of preventing the water from rotting and of killing microbes. The skin-nourishing emulsion feed the lipid lost by cleansing and the perfumes show deodorizing effect. Cloth or paper is soaked with the toilet water and used to clean skins after stool to prevent hemorrhoids, candidiasis, trichomoniastic vaginitis or mange.

When a spray can is utilized to spray it on paper, it is very convenient.
